#DangerousEd Talk

For this years Emporium you are invited to #EDUtalk.

http://edutalk.cc is the home to a Internet Radio Station and open to all podcast. Anyone can submit audio to edutalk via mobile technology.

This year we are inviting contributions from attendees and folk interested in the Emporium of Dangerous ideas.

The idea is that people attending events can give short reports & reflections on the events via their mobile devices/phones. Just talk or have a conversation around the event, interview someone else or be creative.

There are 2 ways to submit audio to Edutalk:

1. Record an audio file and mail it to audio@edutalk.cc We will then convert the file to mp3 if necessary and post it to the site. You can let us know your name and title in the email. There are many application for android and iphones that let you do this.
2. Use AudioBoom, this application, available for Android and iOS will let you post audio to the AudioBoom site, tag your audio #DangerousEd and we will automatically post your audio to edutalk.

We normally use the tag #edutalk on AudioBoom but will have the special one #DangerousEd to create a DangerousEd page on edutalk.cc

Using AudioBoom

You need to download the app to your device and then create your account, you can sign on with your twitter account if you like.
